Product description

Exclusive chess pieces made of unusually colored wood, commonly called redwood. The careful workmanship and appearance of the figures make every connoisseur of the royal game happy with them.

What stands out in this set is the figure of the bishop, which has an exceptionally wide cut, while the mane of the knight seems to be torn, giving the impression of a sharp edge that probably expresses the mount's fury. Together the figures look great.

Pershing chess pieces 4.25

The black pieces are made of exotic red wood, and the white ones are made of boxwood.

Additional queens are included in the set.
